

Islander seeks cozy hideaway.

© 2020 Sue Larkin | Douglas Squirrel in Rockaway Bluff Preserve

STAND FOR THE LAND

BAINBRIDGE ISLAND
LAND TRUST

Island residents like salamanders, bats, flying squirrels and pileated woodpeckers need snags and logs—and the large cavities they provide—to survive. Such habitat is hard to find in some parts of the island, but abundant on 35-acre Rockaway Bluff Preserve.

This large and unique forested plateau—the final acquisition in the Stand for the Land campaign—offers vital habitat and a critical link between the Eagle Harbor and Blakely Harbor ecosystems. We hope you'll stand with us as we work to protect this iconic Island treasure for the benefit of all.

DONATE AND LEARN MORE ABOUT ROCKAWAY BLUFF PRESERVE AT BI-LANDTRUST.ORG